

Our Philosophy of Education

Our St. Louis School is a Christian community where all members grow to value their own worth as people, their living relationship with God, with their family, and with everyone within the school community. The founding vision of the St. Louis Institute-Ur Sint Unum-that all may be one, holds a particular place in our hearts. We aspire to that oneness of all people and of all creation.

Members of our school community are committed to sharing with others the vision of their Catholic faith within the educational environment of the school. We respect the inherent individuality of each person and welcome those from different ethnic backgrounds. We take particular care of those who are disadvantaged socially, intellectually or physically.

Our school embraces students from other religious faiths and those of no religious belief.

St. Louis GNS is a caring community in which individuals grow in awareness of the needs of the wider school community, the local community, and the needs of people all over Ireland and around the world.
